JUDGE SAMPSON

Writes A Card Setting Forth His Views Regarding the Approaching Primary.

Willing to Abide By the Action of the District Committee.

Barbourville, Ky., Jan. 10, 1911.
To the Republicans of the 34th Judicial District:

I have heretofore announced my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Circuit Judge of this District, subject to the Primary election called for February 4th, and I shall be a candidate on that date, if the primary is held then. I know of no reason why the primary will not be held or should not be held on the date named, and I believe it will be held then. I had absolutely nothing to do with the calling of the primary election, or with the assembling of the District Committee which made the call. I did not know who the members of the Whitley County Committee were at the time the call was issued, and I did not influence them, or attempt to influence them in making the call, or in fixing the date of the primary. I was not present at the Committee meeting at Corbin. I am not a kicker in the Republican ranks, and have never been, and will not be in this instance. I accepted what was done by the Committee and am willing to abide by it, although I preferred a later date. If, in the opinion of the Committee, another date would suit the convenience of the voters better than the one named in the call, I shall make no protest or objection, and shall be a candidate on any day the primary is held. I believe in the principles of the Republican party, and in the uprightness and honesty of the party organizations, and am willing to submit to the party law and the majority rule. Republicans should work together in peace and harmony. So far as I am able to judge, the primary call is perfectly fair and complies with the law of the State governing such elections.

I hope to be in every part of the District before the Primary and to meet and greet every voter, personally, so that in the future when I am your Circuit Judge, as I believe I will be, you will feel like you are personally acquainted with me and me with you, and that we can work together for the betterment of this great District and assist in bringing about the proper administration of justice.

Sincerely your friend,
FLEM D. SAMPSON.

THE NEW VITAL STATISTICS LAW

In Effect First of Year; Local Registrars Appointed

The new Vital Statistics Law became operative with the advent of the New Year. For the first time in the history of Kentucky there will be registered under form of law the birth and death of a human being.

For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the act there have been appointed over the entire state Local Registrars whose duty it will be to forward reports of births and deaths to the state office.

The State Board of Health with increased appropriations will learn from the reports of deaths what spots are infected with communicable and preventable diseases and be able to lower the death rate and effectually control the spread of such afflictions.

It becomes unlawful to bury the dead without a permit which is issued by the Local Registrar when a certificate of death is presented by the undertaker from the doctor. This enables the Board to locate epidemics and, by regulations as to burials, prevent the spread of disease.

The physician is required to report all births within ten days to the Registrar who forwards them to the state office. If no physician is in attendance, it becomes the duty of the parents of the child to report such events.

The following are the names of the Registrars for Knox county and the territory assigned each:

J. M. Wilson, Barbourville precincts No. 1, 2, and 3, Barbourville.
Christopher C. Harbin, precinct No. 4, Artemus.

Noah Smith, precincts West and East Flat Lick, Flat Lick.

Jeff Mills, precinct No. 7, Mills.

Thos. Hubbard, precinct No. 8, Sealf.

F. F. Rowland, precinct No. 9, Hopper.

Sam H. Black, precinct No. 10, Cranes Nest.

Hop Donaldson, precinct No. 11, Grays.

Andy Wilder, precinct No. 12, Corbin.

H. E. Hubbard, precinct No. 13, Bertha.

Stephen Gillum, precinct No. 14, Wilton.

Mrs. C. L. Heath, precinct No. 15, Lindsay.

Jos. McNeil, precinct No. 16, King.

Green F. Detherage, precinct No. 18, Warren.

Voting precinct No. 17 has not yet been assigned to a Registrar but will be in a few days.

Mine Inspector Here

Mr. T. J. Barr, of Lexington, one of the Assistant State Mine Inspectors, accompanied by the agent representing the factory, was here last Friday to assist Mr. Perry Cole, the assistant inspector for this section of the State, in setting up and learning how to use and operate the new oxygen helmets and other paraphernalia he now has on hand for use in mines where foul air prevents rescuers from entering, following an explosion. Mr. Cole is now thoroughly equipped for business if his services in that line should be needed.

Dr. Biggs on Trial

Judge D. W. Gardner, of Salyersville, is here as a special Judge this week to sit in the Dr. Biggs case, which went to trial yesterday morning.

Dr. Biggs is charged with killing a man named Dykes at Warren, a year ago last August.

A strong array of counsel has been employed on both sides and a bitter fight is expected.

GRILLS

ARRESTED CHARGED WITH MURDER OF OSBORNE FAMILY.

A very important arrest was made at Habersham, Tenn., last Saturday morning, when a young man named Grills, was arrested charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. — Osborne, near Corbin last week.

Grills was brought to this city Saturday afternoon and placed in jail to await the action of the grand jury. It was learned from some of the officers that while Grills denies any knowledge of the crime, yet, it is impossible for him to show where he was that night and he has admitted that he ate supper with these oldfolks the night before they were found murdered.

The authorities feel that they have the guilty party and he will be given a trial and if found guilty, he will no doubt be given the extreme penalty.

We stated in last week's issue that the crime was committed at Grays, but upon further investigation we learn that it was about three miles north of Grays and within two miles of Corbin. Be it said, however to the Grays people, that the crime was committed by a friend who was a stranger to that section and we do not believe that there is, or even was anyone raised in that neighborhood who would commit such a dastardly crime.

The Panama Canal—Completion in Sight

It is now possible to see the Panama Canal in process of building, and at the same time derive from such a view a picture of the completed waterway. January 1, 1914, will see commercial vessels passing from ocean to ocean, and as early as June 1, 1913, smaller vessels may be utilizing the canal. The date of January 1, 1915, remains the date set for the official opening, when a fleet of American warships will pass through the waterway, which will be thrown open to the world marked "finished."

The time elapsing between January 1, 1914, and January 1, 1915, will be devoted to the task of "tuning up" the machinery so that no accidents to American warships can affect the confidence of the American people in the military as well as the commercial adequacy of the canal.

The recent visit of President Taft and that of the Appropriation Committee of the House of Representatives, called marked attention to the progress of the work. While the American people have been clamoring to see "the dirt fly," Colonel Goethals and his corps of assistant engineers have been quietly devoting their army of something like 35,000 men to the task of successfully encountering the difficulties offered. Heretofore, the picture in the minds of the American people has been one of preparation, of a task in the process of evolution. There was presented to the president and to the Appropriations Committee the picture of a work that had "set." Order has been evolved out of chaos, a matchless organization has been perfected by Colonel Goethals which works like a machine and makes use of every minute of time. The engineering problem involved in the taming of the turbulent Chagres River has been solved by the construction of Gatun dam, the locks are in process of construction, and the only portion of the work which Colonel Goethals cautiously regards as still in an experimental stage is the excavation of Culebra cut, where slides are offering unexpected physical difficulties. But the only problem here appears to be one of time. In spite of it, the canal will be completed, not on time, but a year ahead of time, and within the contemplated cost of $375,000,000.—From "Realizing the Dream of Panama," by George F. Authier, in the American Review of Reviews for January.

PENCIL FACTORY

Established in Pulaski County Where Cedar Fence Rails Around Farms are Worth More Than Land.

Fence rails being worth more than the farms they enclose has become an acknowledged fact in the Burnside section of Pulaski county, since it has been discovered that the quality of cedar growing there is the best adapted to the manufacture of lead pencils and large quantities of cedar timber have changed hands.

This is probably the only section in Kentucky where this character of cedar is found. High prices are paid for it. In some sections the small farmer with a little mountain farm which is fenced with cedar rails, has discovered that his fences are worth several times the value of his farm and that he can realize a small fortune from the sale of his cedar rails to the buyers for the pencil factories.

This has been instanced in many cases just across the State line, several miles south of here, in Tennessee. One man sold his mountain farm for $1,500 and the purchaser in turn sold the cedar rails from the fences for $5,000. Other instances of a similar kind have been realized.

The organization of a corporation for the manufacturing of lead pencils has been completed, and the actual work of construction of the factory at Burnside, this county has been started and is now under way. It will be completed by spring when the new enterprise will be opened.

For some time Burnside has been headquarters for Eastern capitalists for buying of cedar for lead pencil purposes. This point was selected on account of the character of cedar adapted to this purpose, being found along the bluffs of the Cumberland river for many miles above and below Burnside. This output has been shipped East and manufactured into lead pencils. It was seen that a great saving in the way of freight and labor could be had by establishing a manufacturing plant at Burnside. The factory is expected to be turning out its products in the course of a few months.—Special from Somerset to Lexington Leader.

Gasoline on the Farm

In the United States and Canada the gasoline tractor appeared later than in England, but it has multiplied more rapidly in the last few years. Relatively speaking, the percentage of crops planted, harvested, and hauled to market by the tractors is very small, but it is increasing with marvelous rapidity. The question of power on the farm is today of crucial importance. The portable gas engine or tractor is revolutionizing agricultural conditions just as surely as the use of general farm implements did a quarter and half a century ago. Thousands of farmers are annually equipping their farms with gas engines of small and large power to operate grindstones, pump water, saw wood, chop fodder, grind feed, operate churns, and cream separators, and to furnish light for barns and homes. On the larger farms and ranches the gasoline engines are doing the plowing, harrowing, mowing, thrashing, and hauling of produce to market.

Where 72 per cent of the rural community is given to mixed farming, combining dairying, hog raising, and the fattening of choice stall-fed beef cattle, the small portable gas engines of from 5 to 10 horsepower are the most popular. The engine is mounted on wheels and can readily be transported to any part of the farm to grind feed for the cattle, cut corn for ensilage, pulp roots, thresh grain in the barn, and milk the cows and run the churns and cream separators. A five-horse-power engine will, for instance, thresh from 200 to 250 bushels of wheat a day, and only two men are required for the operation of it.

In regions where medium sized grain farms are cultivated, with a crop of from 6,000 to 15,000 bushels, the problem is and always has been how to do the threshing with the least number of men and at the proper time. The gasoline portable outfit of from 12 to 30 horsepower has solved this problem for thousands of farmers. Many farmers of this class are equipped with portable tractors of from 30 to 35 horsepower, which have good hauling power and are sufficient to handle a good-sized separator fitted with both self-feeders and stackers, and also baggers. The engine is used also for plowing and much other work on the farm. A 12-horsepower engine is powerful enough to handle a 28-inch separator without feeder when a carrier instead of a wind stacker is used. This outfit may answer for the smaller farm, but not for the larger ones where the help problem is of such vital importance.

A comparison between the old-fashioned steam method of operation and a portable gasoline engine running a separator with self-feeder and wind stacker may be summed up as follows:

| STEAM.  |         |
|---|---------|
| Engineer, per day   | $4.00  |
| Fireman, per day  | 2.50    |
| Man and team hauling water  |         |

The Southern Commercial Congress

President Taft and two of his cabinet, Secretaries Dickinson and Wilson, will be present at the great meeting of the Southern Commercial Congress in Atlanta, Georgia, March 8th, 9th, and 10th. The meeting will typify and physical recovery of the South. In an interview to-day G. Grosvenor Dawe, Managing Director, said: "Just fifty years ago the struggle between the states was approaching a head. Consequently this semi-centennial meeting will have unusual significance. The proceedings will cover three days. One whole division of the meeting will be styled 'External Views of the South'. The group of speakers is of national weight, Sec. of Agriculture Wilson, Geo. W. Perkins, Edward Hines, Pres. of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association; Samuel McRoberts, Vice-Pres. National City Bank of New York; George Westinghouse of Pittsburgh and Arthur M. Harris of N. W. Harris and Company of Boston." The first night will be devoted to the subject of "The Solid South of Business", spoken to by one business leader from each state; the second night to "Making the New South Understood", closing with a speech by Colonel Roosevelt on "The South's Obligation in Statesmanship and in Business Endeavor"; the third night to "The South's Higher Thought". The speakers that night will be William G. McAdoo, Dr. E. A. Alderman (invited), Governor Woodrow Wilson, Secretary of War Dickinson. The final speech of the meeting will be President Taft, his subject being "A Greater Nation Through a Greater South".

The Official Organ of the Republican Party in Knox County.

We are authorized to announce

JUDGE FLEM D. SAMPSON

Of Barbourville, Kentucky

as a candidate for the nomination for Circuit Judge of the 34th Judicial District of Kentucky, subject to the Republican Primary, to be held Feb. 4, 1911.

THE JUDICIAL PRIMARY.

We are reliably informed that a protest has been sent up to the State Central Committee by W. R. Black, of this city, opposing the action of the Judicial District Committee in calling the Primary for February 4, and asks the State Central Committee to take the matter in hand and set the call aside and fix a later date.

We are of opinion that the call for the Primary was legal and in harmony with the party laws governing such matters. We copy from the party laws as follows:

CIRCUIT COURT DISTRICT COMMITTEE

RULE ELEVEN

"Each Circuit Court District shall have a Circuit Court District Committee, which in districts comprising more than one county, shall be composed of the chairman and county executive committees embraced within said Circuit Court District; the chairman of each of said Circuit Court Districts shall be the chairman of that county which cast the largest Republican vote at the preceding Presidential election, except in any district which is co-extensive with a county, when the County Executive Committee of such county shall be the Circuit Court District Committee."

The above is copied verbatim from the printed copy of the Republican Rules and Organization. That is exactly the course that was pursued by the District Committee and yet W. R. Black has filed a protest before the State Central Committee asking that the Primary which is called for February 4, be set aside.

We have heard an expression from a large per cent of the voters of Knox county and have never heard a Republican voter other than W. R. Black himself object to the time fixed by the District Committee for the Primary, and, besides, as we have heard, he objected to the County Committee of the two counties acting, but wanted to leave it all to the two chairmen themselves.

This is the first time we ever heard of there being too many Republicans in the meeting. We have always thought that the more Republicans, the better the meeting, and especially if Chairman Manning was the awful man that Judge Black seems to think he is, was it not best to have his County Committee there to prevent his doing something dreadfully wrong?

The matter will be tried out in Louisville to-morrow, Saturday, and the matter finally settled, but whether the Primary is held on February 4 or some future date, the people have their minds made up to elect Judge Sampson and a delay would not effect any change in

THE NEW LAW.

Beginning with the present year and month Kentucky took rank with the progressive States in our Union and became one of the first Southern States to take official cognizance of the advent and the passing out of the world of human beings who are born or die within her borders. That a civilized government should let the event of a birth and death of humans pass without a note of its occurrence will appear an inhuman act to all who will pause for a moment to give the matter due thought. That the cause of death is secured is also a great aid in the battle now being waged against preventable diseases.

The certificates of births and deaths will be preserved for all time, protected against fire, mold and theft, and will become of inestimable value in years to come to prove descent, in aiding in the settlement of wards, and guardians, to determine age for holding public office, jury service, voting, military service, entering the professions, liability under the child labor laws, age of consent and of irresponsibility for crime.

The certificates of death which states whether or not the patient died of a contagious, infectious or communicable disease will enable the State Board of Health to put its finger with certainty upon the diseased spots of the State and enforce proper regulations and precautions so that the needless slaughter by preventable diseases of the citizens of the State will be checked.

Local registrars for every county of the entire State have been appointed, commissioned and furnished with the necessary supplies to begin their work. Physicians are required to report within ten days the births that occur in their practice and to give the facts required upon the form of death certificate adopted by the Bureau of the Census, and provided for by this law.

The undertaker is required to procure the personal and statistical particulars with the signature of the informant and to procure from the physician the facts relating to the cause of death. This certificate is then presented to the Local Registrar who issues a burial or removal permit.

It becomes unlawful for cemetery keepers, sextons or owners of private burying grounds to permit burials without a burial permit from the local registrar. A body can not be shipped by a common carrier or other public conveyance without the authority of a burial-permit transit permit which requires the body to be so prepared that there is no danger of a spread of the disease en route, or when it reaches its destination.

Penalties are provided for failure to comply with the law's provisions by anyone upon whom a duty devolves.

Every good citizen should aid in making this law a success in every detail, as the good accruing therefrom to the masses of people will be manifold. Study its intent, and the details of its workings, and help to educate the public so that the greatest good may come from its operation.

A Philadelphia woman was found dead in bed with an empty carbolic acid bottle and a half finished modern novel by her side. The police, who can assign no cause for the rash act, are advised to tackle the novel.

Kentucky shows more people killed during the Christmas holidays than any other State. It's hard to get ahead of Kentucky.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 70 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from a pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—few the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

Why does Great Britain buy its oatmeal of us?

Certainly it seems like carrying coals to Newcastle to speak of exporting oatmeal to Scotland and yet, every year the Quaker Oats Company sends hundreds of thousands of cases of Quaker Oats to Great Britain and Europe.

The reason is simple; while the English and Scotch have for centuries eaten oatmeal in quantities and with a regularity that has made them the most rugged physically, and active mentally of all people, the American has been eating oatmeal and trying all the time to improve the methods of manufacture so that he might get that desirable foreign trade.

How well he has succeeded would be seen at a glance at the export reports on Quaker Oats. This brand is without a rival; is packed in regular 10c packages, and in hermetically sealed tins for hot climates.

Destructive Fire at Pittsburg.

A defective flue in the Pittsburg, Laurel county postoffice, caused a disastrous fire, which for a time Wednesday afternoon of last week at four o'clock, threatened the destruction of the town, when all of Water street, from Laurel street to Mrs. McCoy's residence, was burned. Dynamite was used to save the Pittsburg store. All the records of the postoffice were burned. Other losses were: Mrs. Nell Hops, Bass Warren and the Pitman Coal Company store rooms, Will Smith's barber shop and the stores of W. L. Coates, George Ward, William Turner and John Hale. The total loss is $15,000, with $2,500 insurance.

Conjugal Felicity.

The editor, who mu h is noted for his uncontrollable temper, attended a religious revival in the neighborhood and became converted.

A month later he was holding forth to a number of friends and relatives gathered at the Thanksgiving dinner table, on the subject of his religious principles, his entire change of character, and his kind and forbearing disposition. Finally, growing enthusiastic in his description, he called on his wife to uphold his assertions.

"Clara," he shouted, "you haven't had an unkind word or deed from me since I got converted—now, have you?"

There was a dead silence; then came in meek, yet reminding tones, from the other end of the table: "Dan, Dan, you've forgot the time you bit me when I was trying to subjugate your unruly temper."

Cord of Thanks

Mr. E. T. England and the members of his family wish to express their deep appreciation of every word and act by which their friends have shown their sympathy for them in their deep bereavement.

MATRIMONY.

Matrimony is the joint stock company which a minister promoteth as a side line, and a lawyer throweth into bankruptcy with the feminine stockholder as the preferred creditor.

It is the boot which induceth a girl to swap a hundred-dollar salary for a forty-dollar man. 'Tis a neck-yoke which maketh two collars to chafe as one.

Matrimony is ascribed to softening of brain or heart, or pure itch. Exactly what causeth it the Lord only knoweth, but time will tell—when it is too late.

By matrimony the optimist expecteth to get a silent partner who feareth not the cook nor staying alone at night. The pessimist hopeth only to dodge the hobble-skirted suffragette when he maketh his choice, and to escape with light alimony.

The benefits of matrimony are many (sayeth the promoter.) For mending broken nobility it is without a rival. Through it man acquireth a good cook and housekeeper—sometimes. And a woman obtaineth a meal ticket—occasionally. And when she doth, although issued for life, she frequently loseth it before it expireth.

Matrimony resulteth variously—in happiness, trouble or even children. The latter, though the least frequent, seem to be the most dreaded.

Is matrimony a failure? The neighbor on the right hand saith: "Yes, it is hell," and the one on the left say, "It is heaven." And verily, both are wrong—it is earth.

In the Blessed Realm there is no marrying nor giving up alimony. Angels, being wise, are prudently fearful. Wherefore, only by rushing in and investigating for ourselves can we learn what matrimony hath in store for us.

Brethren, let us make no mistake, but take the brisk, smart intelligent girl and we will be the lucky ones.—Smart Set.

Boone Tent No. 72, K. O. T. M., will hold review in the old Masonic Hall, Thursday, Jan. 19, 1911. All Knights are requested to be present.

Eastern Star

Last Tuesday a Chapter of the Eastern Star was instituted and set to work at this place Miss Ida Moss, Worthy Matron of Pineville Chapter, was deputized by the Grand Patron to do the work. Miss Moss was ably and beautifully assisted by Mr. A. C. Blowers, Mrs. Judge Davis, Mrs. Blowers, Mrs. Arnett, Mrs. Reeder, Mrs. Ware, Mrs. Wickliff, Mrs. Dr. Durham, Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Knuckles, all members of the Pineville Chapter.

Work was called off at noon and a splendid luncheon was served in the parlors of the lodge hall and after a social time the work was completed. The new Chapter has been started with every indication of a bright, useful and successful career and every one entitled to membership should take early advantage of the opportunity.

The following officers were appointed in the new Chapter:

Worthy Matron, Mrs. R. M. Stansbury; Associate Matron, Mrs. H. C. Black; Worthy Patron, J. B. Gates; Conductress, Mrs. W. W. Tingle; Associate Conductress, Mrs. A. W. Hopper; Warder, Mrs. R. W. Cole; Sentinel, W. W. Tinsley; Secretary, Miss Gertrude Black; Treasurer, Mrs. F. D. Sampson; Organist, Mrs. H. L. Hatton; Chaplain, Mrs. H. C. Faulkner; Marshall, Mrs. J. S. Miller; Adah, Mrs. J. F. Hawn; Ruth, Mrs. W. H. McDonald; Ester, Mrs. W. R. Lay; Martha, Mrs. J. B. Gates; Electa, Mrs. J. B. Jones.

Slave Pensions.

Shortly after the war the Kentucky Legislature allowed all slaves who had married in bondage to go before the County Clerk and make a declaration, thereby legitimizing their marriage and issue. Owing to ignorance this was done in but few instances, the consequences being that the pension bureau turned down all widows' and orphans' pension claims. At the last session of the the Kentucky Legislature Senator Bradley prepared a bill which was put through both houses by State Senator Cureton, of Louisville, making the customary slave marriage legitimate. They were usually performed without license. The pension bureau has ruled that it can now consider any claims which may be filed since the act of the Legislature went into effect last July. All claims which were filed before that date must be refilled. There are several hundred cases in the State of negro soldiers whose descendants will become pensionable under the ruling of the pension bureau.—Jesseamine Journal.
